A special cable dispatch states that loyal American and English friends of the United States are galled at the recent proceedings of Minister Johnson in Liverpool, and think him anxious to go out of his way to make soft speeches, and that he went too far in allowing himself to be introduced to Laird, and greeting him in a friendly manner, and that he fraternizes too much with rebels and English enemies, and misrepresents the sentiments of a majority of the American people, and places the United States in an humiliating attitude.

In the spring of 1865, when the nation successfully emerged from the dreadful conflict, the obligations of the Government reached the vast amount of $2,000,000,000. They had not, however, attained their highest point, for when the army and navy had been paid, the volunteer forces disbanded, and the navy largely reduced, it was found, in February, 1866, that our indebtedness exceeded $2,800,000,000. Not John Quincy Adams or any other Adams of Massachusetts do we mean, but our own Adams, the gallant George M. Adams of the Eighth District, the only ongressional candidate of our party in Kentucky who confronts a formidable or position, and hence the only one whose election is a matter of solicitude. We, which God has given him. This is no time for the observance of the niceties of empty etiquette and punctilio at the risk of all that is dear to half the civilhowever, are confident of his election. The Eighth District is close; but Colonel Adams has proved himself to be invincible. And he never was more invincible than he now is. MADRID, Oct. 8, 1868 MADRID, Oct. 8, 1888.

As was anticipated, General Prim's respection by the inhabitants of Madrid was comething long to be remembered. Old divisors confess that they have never seen by thing like it before. The return of the unity from its African campaign was made the occasion of a tremendous popular and governmental manifestation, but hat was comparatively insignificant to he spontaneous outpouring of the masses yesterday to do honor to their then in Spain, the sun shone cheerfully on the streets of the city and seemed to warm the population into active life. It was more like a May than an October day, the air was so soft and balmy. At an early hour the people leit their houses raid began collecting in the Calle de Al-cais, on the Prado, the Carrera St. Gero-timo and in the Puerto del Sol. At noon at least 300,000 people were congregated in the street on the route of the procession. At about 3 o'clock, Gen. Prim. accompanied by a number of naval officers and his staff, arrived and were received at the station by the Captain-General Caboliero de Rodas, Lieutenant-General Ros de Olano and a large staff. With the exception of a company of cavalry the captain-General Caboliero de way, there were no regular troops out, the volunteers doing the ease cort. About 20,000 of the militia were in the procession, and perhaps 5,000 students, societies of all kinds, and civilians generally.

BEAPED.

Dudley Veil was sentenced at the last term of the United States Court to be imprisoned in the Fayette county jail, for violating the internal revenue laws. The jailor there did not confine him as closely as he should have done, and the Court ordered a rule against the jailor to show cause why he should not deliver him to the Marshal, to be confined in the Jefferson county jail. The Marshal intrusted to bring him to this city, while on the train bound for the city, not no ticing him very closely, the prisoner tool advantage of his slight inattention, am jumped from the train while going at ful speed, and made good his escape.
